

WA CARES

GET THE FACTS

WA Cares pays for long-term care at home for working Washingtonians.

WA Cares pays up to $36,500* for personal home care, including:

Family Care

Wheelchairs

Medical Equipment

Home Modifications

*Benefit amount grows over time

Scaled premiums: Just $0.58 per $100 earned.

WA Cares covers care in your home or a facility, as well as home modifications, meal delivery, car rides, and caregiver training.

Covers all Washingtonians, regardless of gender, race, age, or pre-existing conditions

WHY IT MATTERS

Addressing the Need

7 in 10 Washingtonians over the age of 65 will need long-term services and supports within their lifetimes.

Minimizing Family Burden

Family caregivers who leave the workforce to care for a loved one lose their own income and health and retirement benefits.

Keeping Your Savings

To pay for long-term care, many people must spend down their savings in order to qualify for financial support.

Peace of Mind

By contributing a small amount from each paycheck while we're working, we can all pay for long-term care when we need it.
